Department of Home Affairs

Sponsorship for a child to migrate to Australia

Form
40CH

The Department of Home Affairs (the Department) acknowledges that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are the traditional custodians of the Australian land.

Important – Please read this information carefully before you complete this application. Once you have completed this application we strongly advise that you keep a copy for your records.

Before you fill in this form you should read the information on the Department's website at <http://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au/home>. If you are satisfied that you are eligible to sponsor the child, you should continue reading these instructions.

Integrity of sponsorship

The Department is committed to maintaining the integrity of the visa and citizenship programmes. In relation to this application, if you or a member of your family unit:

- provide, or have provided in a previous application, fraudulent documents or false or misleading information (knowingly or not); and/or
- fail to satisfy, or have failed to satisfy in a previous application, the Minister of your or their identity;

this visa application may be refused and you, and any members of your family unit, may become unable to be granted a visa for specified periods of time, as set out in migration legislation.

If documents are found to be fraudulent or information to be incorrect after the grant of a visa, the visa may subsequently be cancelled.

Who can sponsor?

The child must be sponsored by the parent, relative or guardian (as applicable for the category). The sponsor gives a written undertaking to provide support for the child, including accommodation and financial assistance as required to meet the child's reasonable living needs during their first 2 years in Australia, or the 2 years following the grant of the child's visa if the child is applying in Australia. The sponsor must complete the undertaking in Part O of this form.

The sponsor must be an Australian citizen, permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen aged 18 years or over.

If you wish to sponsor a child for an Orphan Relative (subclass 117 or 837) visa, you must have been lawfully resident in Australia for a reasonable period (usually 2 years). Additionally, for the child to be granted an Orphan Relative visa, you must be able to provide adequate financial support and accommodation to this relative.

'Partner' means your spouse or de facto partner (including same-sex partners).

Family members included in this sponsorship application

In this sponsorship application you will be asked for information about each member of the child's family unit who has been included on the child's visa application. Information about which family members are considered to be a 'member of child's family unit' for migration purposes is available by referring to form 1496i Including family members in your application. Form 1496i is available from the Department's website <https://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au/help-support/departamental-forms>. You should ensure that you read and understand form 1496i before completing this form.

How to sponsor

To make a valid application, form 47CH Application for migration to Australia by a child and the Visa Application Charge (or evidence that you have paid the charge in Australia) must be lodged together. This form should also be lodged at the same time.

Visa Application Charges may be subject to adjustment on 1 July each year. This may increase the cost of a visa.

If the child is 18 years of age or over

Complete this form and send or give it to the child you are sponsoring.

The child should complete form 47CH and lodge it together with this sponsorship form along with all relevant documentation.

If the child is under 18 years of age

You should complete this form and lodge it together with the completed visa application form (form 47CH), plus all relevant documentation, on the behalf of the child.

You, or the child's current guardian, should complete form 47CH on the child's behalf.

If you are sponsoring a child who is onshore and has had a visa refused or cancelled and does not hold a substantive visa, then this completed and signed form must be provided at the same time as form 47CH. The child must also be under 25 years of age unless claiming to be incapacitated for work due to disability.

Where to lodge the application

You must post the application (with the correct prepaid postage) or send it by courier to the Child and Other Family Processing Centre. If you submit your application at any other office or in any other way, it will not be a valid application and cannot be considered further. Visa applications cannot be lodged in person.

You can post the application (with correct pre-paid postage) to:

Department of Home Affairs
Child and Other Family Processing Centre
Locked Bag 7
NORTHBRIDGE WA 6865

OR

You can have the application delivered by courier service to:

Department of Home Affairs
Child and Other Family Processing Centre
Wellington Central
836 Wellington Street
WEST PERTH WA 6005

Parental responsibility requirement (for a child under 18 years of age)

If another parent or any other person can legally determine where the child can live, permission for the child to migrate to Australia must be obtained from that person. This must be in the form of either a completed form 1229 Consent to grant an Australian visa to a child under the age of 18 years or a statutory declaration. Alternatively, the parental responsibility requirement will be satisfied if the sponsoring parent is in possession of a valid court order in relation to the child which permits them to permanently remove the child from the child's home country, or has a valid Australian child order issued by the Family Court of Australia and the grant of the visa would be consistent with that order.

Protection of children

The Australian Government considers that the safety of children is paramount and this is reflected in policies about the sponsorship of minors for visas to enter Australia. The government wants to ensure that children seeking to enter Australia under partner and child visas are protected from being sponsored by people with convictions for child sex offences or other serious offences indicating that they may pose a significant risk to a child in their care.

A sponsorship limitation in the Migration Regulations 1994 prevents a sponsorship from being approved if one of the proposed applicants is under 18 years of age and the Minister is satisfied that the sponsor or the sponsor's spouse or de facto partner has a conviction or outstanding charge for a registrable offence. Where the child is aged under 18 years, sponsors (and, if applicable, their partners) of child visa applications are required to provide an Australian National Police Check and/or foreign police certificate(s) as part of the process of assessing the application. The results of the police certificate(s) are used by the Department to assess the sponsorship application and whether or not the visa application satisfies public interest criteria relating to the best interests of the applicant.

A sponsorship that would otherwise be refused under this limitation may be approved at the discretion of the Minister or his delegate if 5 years have passed since completion of the sentence for the last registrable offence and there are compelling circumstances affecting the sponsor or the visa applicant.

In addition to the Australian National Police Check or other police certificate(s), sponsors must disclose to the Department any information relating to any conviction for child sex offences they have had or any charges currently awaiting legal action. It is also important that migration applicants, and any non-migrating person who can lawfully determine where a migrating minor child is to live, are informed when the sponsor has such convictions or outstanding charges.

When the Department is aware of any convictions or charges of this nature, through either:

- the Australian National Police Check or other police certificate(s) provided; or
- the answers you provide to Question 34 on this form (40CH); or
- liaison with relevant Commonwealth, state and territory agencies;

it may inform the migration applicant, and any non-migrating person who can lawfully determine where the applicant's migrating minor child may live, about the convictions or charges. Signing the sponsorship undertaking will be taken as your acknowledgement of this approach.

Note: Where the applicant is adopted and an Australian state or territory adoption authority has approved the adoption, police checks are obtained as part of the approval process and further police checks are not required with the application.

Assurance of Support (AoS)

An AoS may be requested if an applicant is assessed as being a potentially high user of the Australian welfare system. As well as your child's circumstances, your ability to support your child (and any other dependants included in the application) may be taken into account by the decision-maker in deciding whether to request an AoS. Some of the information given by you on this form may be used for this.

What is an AoS?

An AoS is an undertaking to provide financial support to the person or persons applying to migrate so that the migrant will not have to rely on any government forms of support.

It is also a legal commitment by a person to repay to the Australian Government certain recoverable welfare payments made by Services Australia to those covered by the assurance.

The sponsor of the visa applicant is not required to act as the assurer if they are not in a financial position to qualify. Generally a person who has received the full rate of any pension, benefit or allowance (other than family payments) from Services Australia during the last year will not qualify as an assurer. Another person who is an Australian citizen or permanent resident or eligible New Zealand citizen who is usually resident in Australia and over 18 years of age can act as the assurer.

Services Australia has responsibility for assessing all AoS applications. Where appropriate, this also includes managing bond lodgement. For more information about the AoS scheme including application procedures, refer to the Services Australia website at <https://www.servicesaustralia.gov.au/> or contact Services Australia on 132 850 from within Australia or 61 3 6222 3455 from outside Australia.

Note: The AoS remains in place for the duration of the assurance period regardless of whether or not the applicant has obtained a different visa (except where that visa is a Humanitarian visa) or has become an Australian citizen. Once the relevant visa has been granted, the AoS can only be cancelled in very limited circumstances and these circumstances are determined by Services Australia (not by the Department).

What documents do you need?

You should provide all documents asked for in this form.

The Department will need proof of your relationship to the child.

It will help processing if you lodge with this form any documents which confirm the relationship. For example, if you are sponsoring your niece or nephew as an orphan relative, you should include certified copies of your full birth certificate and the full birth certificate of your sibling who is the parent of the child.

If you or your siblings have changed your name(s) since birth, you should also provide evidence of this.

You will also need to provide evidence of your permanent resident status in Australia or proof that you are an eligible New Zealand citizen. An Australian citizen will need to send a certified copy of their citizenship certificate or, if Australian-born, a full certified copy of their birth certificate. If you are unsure about the documents needed to do this, a list of required documents is available from the Department's website <https://www.homeaffairs.gov.au>.

You will also need to demonstrate that you can meet your sponsorship obligations. These are that you will be able to assist the child, to the extent necessary, financially and in respect of accommodation, during the period of 2 years immediately following their arrival in Australia or the 2 years following the grant of the visa if the child is applying in Australia. Additionally, if you are sponsoring a child who is an orphan relative, to enable them to be granted the visa, you must also give an undertaking that you have the capacity to provide this financial support and accommodation until your relative turns 18 years of age.

The information requested on this form, including documents relating to your employment and income, will assist the decision-maker in deciding if you are able to meet these requirements.

If the applicant is under 18 years of age, in order to assess the sponsorship application and the best interests of the child criterion, both you and your spouse or de facto partner are required to submit an Australian National Police Check for each person who has spent any time in Australia since turning 16 years of age. In addition, police certificates from each other country in which you and your partner have spent a total of 12 months or more in the last 10 years since turning 16 years of age must also be submitted.

You must provide the original police certificates.

If you are required to submit an Australian National Police Check, you must complete the National Police Check application form that is available from the Australian Federal Police (AFP) website

<https://www.afp.gov.au/what-we-do/services>

You should use Code 33 at Section 8 on the National Police Check application form and include details of any, and all, names you have been known by. If an AFP Certificate is provided based on incorrect information, the Department may request another certificate. Fingerprints are not required for National Police Checks.

If you are providing copies of documents they will need to be certified as true copies of the original by a justice of the peace, commissioner for declarations or a person authorised to witness statutory declarations.

Note: Applicants and sponsors are encouraged to consider information on the 'Offices outside Australia' page to determine the relevant police checks required from each country

<https://immi.homeaffairs.gov.au/help-support/contact-us/offices-and-locations/offices-outside-australia>

Waiting period for certain welfare payments

New migrants to Australia have to wait up to 4 years before they can get most welfare payments. The waiting period starts from the date of arrival or the date of permanent resident status, whichever is the later. You should therefore think carefully about whether or not you are able and willing to provide support for the child.

Information on services to assist newly arrived migrants with settling in Australia is also available on the Department of Social Services website at

<https://www.dss.gov.au/our-responsibilities>

Health

All applicants for permanent visas including the main applicant and any members of the family unit must be assessed against the health requirement.

In addition, in certain circumstances, family members who are not applying for the visa will be assessed against the health requirement. Further information about the health requirement is available on the Department's website <https://www.homeaffairs.gov.au/trav/visa/heal/meeting-the-health-requirement/health-examinations>

Note: Applicants may have already undertaken a health assessment for their visa. However, the Department reserves the right to request additional health examinations as part of this visa application process.

Important information about privacy

The Privacy Act 1988 contains 13 Australian Privacy Principles which regulate the way that the Department collects and handles personal information. Information about how the Department collects, uses and discloses personal information for its key functions can be found in form 1442i Privacy notice. More information about the Department's general information handling practices (including form 1442i) can be found in the Department's Privacy policy at <https://www.homeaffairs.gov.au/access-and-accountability/our-commitments/privacy>

Where sponsorship applications present potential child protection issues, the Department will ensure the migration applicant, or a person with parental responsibility (as defined in section 61B of the Family Law Act 1975) for the applicant, is made aware of the information collected that raises child protection concerns. The section titled Protection of children on page 2 of this form gives details of situations where the Department may take such action.

Obtaining information about you from other agencies and organisations

Under section 56 of the Migration Act 1958, the Department may seek information about you that is relevant to your sponsorship application from other agencies and organisations. The agencies/organisations may include:

- federal, state or territory government agencies;
- federal, state or territory law enforcement agencies;
- state or territory housing authorities (including private landlords);
- local government authorities;
- financial institutions;
- educational institutions;
- private businesses (including telecommunications and internet service providers, insurance companies); and
- any other relevant businesses or agencies.

What is immigration assistance?

A person gives immigration assistance if he or she uses, or purports to use, his or her knowledge or experience in migration procedure to assist a person with matters related under the Migration Act 1958.

The most common times assistance is provided is during visa application processes, visa cancellation processes or sponsorship processes (including monitoring or sanctions).

Note: Immigration assistance does not include simply filling in an application form, translating or interpreting or passing on information about an application without comment or explanation.

Registered migration agents

A registered migration agent is a person who is registered with the Office of the Migration Agents Registration Authority (OMARA) to provide immigration assistance.

If operating in Australia, migration agents must be registered with the OMARA.

Information on registered migration agents, including how to find one, is available on the OMARA website www.mara.gov.au

Legal practitioners

A legal practitioner is a lawyer who holds an Australian legal practising certificate (whether restricted or unrestricted) granted under a law of an Australian state or territory.

Legal practitioners can provide immigration assistance in connection with legal practice.

Information on legal practitioners, including how to find one, is available on the Law Council of Australia website.

Information on legal practitioners can also be sought from the relevant state or territory legal professional bodies.

Exempt persons

The following people do not have to be a registered migration agent or legal practitioner in order to provide immigration assistance:

- a close family member (spouse, child, adopted child, parent, brother or sister of a visa applicant);
- a sponsor or nominator for a visa applicant;
- a member of parliament or their staff;
- a member of a diplomatic mission, consular post or international organisation.

An exempt person must not charge a fee for their assistance. In Australia, if they do charge a fee they are committing an offence and penalties of up to 10 years jail can apply.

Appointing a registered migration agent/legal practitioner/exempt person

To appoint a registered migration agent/legal practitioner/exempt person you should complete Part N – Options for receiving written communications.

Your registered migration agent/legal practitioner/exempt person should complete form 956 Appointment of a registered migration agent, legal practitioner or exempt person.

Form 956 is available from the Department's website www.homeaffairs.gov.au/allforms/

Options for receiving written communications

If you do not appoint a migration agent/legal practitioner/exempt person you may still authorise another person, in writing, to receive written communications on your behalf. This person is called the authorised recipient.

Authorised recipient information

All written communication about your application will be sent to your authorised recipient, unless you indicate that you wish to have health and/or character information sent directly to you.

The Department will communicate with the most recently appointed authorised recipient as you may only appoint one authorised recipient at any time for a particular application.

You will be taken to have received any documents sent to that person as if they had been sent to you.

To appoint an authorised recipient you should complete:

- Part N – Options for receiving written communications; and
- form 956A Appointment or withdrawal of an authorised recipient.

Note: Migration agents/legal practitioners/exempt persons do not need to complete form 956A.

Form 956A is available from the Department's website

www.homeaffairs.gov.au/allforms/

Consent to communicate electronically

The Department may use a range of means to communicate with you. However, electronic means such as email will only be used if you indicate your agreement to receiving communication in this way.

To process your application the Department may need to communicate with you about sensitive information, for example, health, police checks, financial viability and personal relationships. Electronic communications, unless adequately encrypted, are not secure and may be viewed by others or interfered with.

If you agree to the Department communicating with you by electronic means, the details you provide will only be used by the Department for the purpose for which you have provided them, unless there is a legal obligation or necessity to use them for another purpose, or you have consented to use for another purpose. They will not be added to any mailing list.

The Australian Government accepts no responsibility for the security or integrity of any information sent to the Department over the internet or by other electronic means.

If you authorise another person to receive documents on your behalf and they wish to be contacted electronically, their signature is required on form 956 or 956A to indicate their consent to this form of communication.

Note: Electronic communication is the fastest means of communication available and the Department prefers to communicate electronically because this results in faster processing.
